Next Tuesday is Primary Day in the state of Massachusetts, when the voters will have the opportunity to express their preference, among the various candidates who are seeking the nomination of their party for election in November. There are but few contests in the Republican party, while the Democratic party presents a larger list. The primary in Northfield will be conducted at the town hall, in charge of the Town Clerk, Mrs. Josephine Haskell, and the appointed election officials. The polls will open at 12 noon and close at 8 p. m. Enrolled voters will vote their party ballot and it is urgent that they give full expression to their choices of candidates.

Nomination of candidates for the following offices will take place: Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Treasurer and Receiver-General, Auditor of the Commonwealth, Attorney General and Senator in Congress, Representative for the First Congressional district, Councilor for the Eighth Councilor district, senator for the Franklin Hampshire district, one representative to the General Court, First Franklin district, Clerk of Courts, Register of Deeds and two County Commissioners.

Besides these nominations there will be the election of three delegates to the State convention of the Republican party, and one delegate for the State convention of the Democratic party. All the above candidates are to be voted upon by one ballot.

The local Republican town committee through its chairman, Mr. Hoehn, has issued a strong appeal that Republican voters attend the primary and declare their choice for candidates, as well as showing their loyalty to the Republican organization. No report has come from the Democratic town committee of their action.

Talks On Trees

By E. Porter Felt
Bartlett Tree Research Lab.
Stamford, Conn.

The period of falling leaves is approaching and the time for disposing of them is near.

The general practice is to burn fallen leaves. This has already started in areas where there has been severe foliage damage by the elm leaf or the Japanese beetles, to mention two insects which have been exceptionally troublesome this season. There is a general assumption that it is comparatively safe to rake up leaves and burn them under trees and there cases where small piles of leaves have been burned close to the trunks of trees. This has occurred even on the grounds of some valuable estates.

The bark of trees supposedly protects the living tissues beneath from heat and this is true to a certain extent of the older trees. Younger trees are readily scorched even by a slight fire and the cambium beneath may be killed or at least seriously injured, in some cases all the way around the trunk. This produces conditions favorable to invasion by borers. Flowering dogwoods are particularly likely to suffer in this way since fires sometimes burn the light covering of leaves common in areas favored by the dogwoods. It is best to keep fires away from the bases of trees.

The branches of many trees are so high that some consider it moderately safe to burn small amounts of leaves or brush under trees. They forget that hot air rises and that it is relatively easy to scorch the bark of branches. This is particularly true when the air is still and there is an almost unbroken current of hot air ascending to the overhanging limbs. A brown patch in an evergreen is frequently explained by finding charred wood beneath, indicating that the damage was done by an earlier fire.

Leaves make an excellent mulch—at least do not burn them under trees.

Treadway announces that the date of his regular get together of members of the city and town Republican committees of the First Congressional district has been set for Wednesday, October 2. Several members of the local Republican town committee expect to be in attendance.

Japan News Reports Kagawa Under Arrest Is Christian Leader

During 1936 he made a speaking tour of the United States and was heard at many colleges and several of the larger cities. He came to Northfield during his journey and spoke on the campus at Northfield seminary. It was not his first visit here as he had visited here previously at various times. Kagawa is firmly opposed to war and advocates the cooperative movement between individuals and nations, for the purpose of advancing civilization. Many in Northfield will regret to learn of his arrest and imprisonment, which took place the latter part of August.

The bonds of the town of Northfield recently awarded to the Merchants National Bank of Boston, in the amount of $45,000, to provide in the erection of the new school building, have brought a premium to the town of $337.53. This is an indication of the high standard of efficiency and condition in which the town stands, and of its ability to pay and meet all demands made upon it. The Selectmen have completed the entire arrangement and the town treasurer now has the funds available for the payments on the school building construction as they become due.

Red Cross Quota Realized In County

The Red Cross campaign for war relief, under way in the county, for some time, has been concluded in the forwarding of a final report the past week, by the County Chairman, John W. Haigis. The quota, first called from the county was $8,000 and later the appeal doubled the amount. Responding to the first quota, the county reports with $8,370. Of this amount, Mount Hermon, Roy R. Hatch, chairman secured $117.92 and Northfield, A. P. Fitt chairman $397.74. As usual the Red Cross membership roll will come in November and solicitations will be made by a local committee with a chairman yet to be named.

Becoming Acquainted

Rev. William E. Park, who last spring, was chosen by the trustees of the Northfield schools, as its president, is now at home with his family in the large house on Main street, formerly occupied by his predecessor, the late Elliot Speer. He assumed his office on Sept. 1 and is located in Kenarden hall on the Seminary campus, in the former quarters of the late William R. Moody. Recently he has had the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the faculties of both schools at their meetings and last Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Fitt, gave a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Park, at their home so that they might become acquainted with many of our citizens.

Married 65 Years Observe Anniversary

In a quiet way, Mr. and Mrs. Zachariah Wade, who reside on the east side of the road going toward the East Northfield railroad station, celebrated the sixty fifth anniversary of their marriage last Friday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wade are in fair health and enjoy keeping their own home. They were married in Granville, N. Y. by Rev. L. N. Phillips. Mr. Wade was a native of that town and spent his early years in farming there but came to South Vernon to take charge of the Belding farm, which he operated for 17 years. He then went to Monson where he was superintendent of the state hospital farm for several years. After his retirement, he purchased the house now occupied as a home. Mrs. Wade, who was Nancy P. Buxton, was born in Danby, Vt. Mr. Wade is a member of Harmony Lodge of Masons of this town. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wade have many friends who offer their congratulations and best wishes.

S. P. C. C. Needs Funds Will Campaign Here For County Effort

The Franklin county branch of the State Society for the prevention of cruelty to children, is seeking subscriptions toward the support of its work in this district for the ensuing year. Mrs. Fred A. Holton who is a director in the county organization will have charge of the campaign and will name a committee to aid her. Letters of appeal will go out in the mail to previous subscribers and a quick reply will be hoped for. Individual calls will also be made on prospects. The society is doing a most commendable work hereabouts and employs an agent to make investigations and care for its problems. Because of the character of its undertakings, not much publicity can be given to individual cases, but children are being protected and cared for, within our district. The society does not go about to discover conditions, but the cases are referred to them for attention by the heads of schools, the police, the courts, the hospitals and other agencies. Children are the victims of a long list of crimes, misdemeanors and neglect and since no other agency exists to meet the serious conditions, the S. P. C. C. alone ministers to them. About $250 will be expected from Northfield to support this county work and the appeal should be met by a hearty and generous response. Mrs. Holton will be glad to give any information of the work of the society to those interested, and she will also be happy to receive any proffered assistance of financial gifts.

Heard About Deerfield

The quarterly meeting of the Northfield Historical society was held early last week in Dickinson hall with a good attendance and three new members were welcomed to the society. These were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cobb and Miss Theresa Simar. Other members who joined during the summer months were Ernest Parker, Willis K. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alexander of Newtonville.

Among the guests present was Prof. Roy Towne, head of the romance language department of Kansas university.

The business meeting was followed by a musical interlude, which gave much pleasure. Miss Helen Savchoff played the violin and was accompanied on the piano by her sister Gloria.

Judge Francis Nims Thompson, president of the Pocumtuck Valley Memorial association spoke on "Old Deerfield." Beginning with the western frontier phase of the town's history he traced it through the long period of pioneer hardship, war, and massacre down to the permanent settlement. Judge Thompson's vivid portrayal of events and people, his comprehensive knowledge of the history and topography of the section, made his talk extremely interesting.

The late Miss Philena R. Sheldon of New York City, who died last April 6 has bequeathed the sum of $400 to the Students Aid society of Northfield seminary, payable at the death of a life tenant, from the total estate.

EDITORIAL

ALIEN OR FOREIGNER

Over 30 persons have registered at the East Northfield postoffice as aliens in Northfield. There are some 70 or 80 such residing in this vicinity and many of them, I have the privilege of acquaintance. They are law abiding and loyal residents, many tilling the soil and endeavoring to make an honest living. With emphasis placed on citizenship now, many will take out citizenship papers and endeavor to become "one of us." They have learned to love America and to appreciate its privileges of freedom, liberty and democracy. This is my testimony for the aliens hereabouts and I trust that there will be none among us who will permit prejudice and hatred, to obscure the fellowship and worthiness of the upright alien within our borders. They are not foreigners in the fully accepted term.

POLITICS OR WAR

Any Editor, nowadays, has a problem before him, in selecting his topics for editorial comment. Usually at this time of a political campaign, the average editor is bent on political opinions of men, who are candidates for office, and of an analytical survey of the platforms for which they speak. But with the tumult of war, and the reports of willful murder and destruction visited on mankind, by the most baronous tyrant that ever lived, our own political expressions fade as a secondary matter to the events in a wide world, strewn with sorrow, death and misery. However it is paramount that both phases of these problems must be considered. Both are our problems and to each we must give clear thinking and positive action.

The Back Yard Gardener

By G. O. Olson

Hello folks. Well, what did you do on your vacation? I'll bet you didn't do half what you expected. At least that's the situation with me, and I'm still so unsettled that I haven't thought of much in the way of gardening that I can give you. I did considerable traveling around the state, visiting folks, looking at their gardens, and having little heart-to-heart chats. One little thought impressed itself upon my mind during those trips so I'm just going to offer it to you for your approval.

Also spent three days hiking over the Presidential Range in New Hampshire. That certainly was a wonderful experience. Had often driven through the White Mountains, but never knew really how big or how grand those mountains were until I actually stood on top of them. When you get up that high, you begin to realize how big this old world is and how insignificant you are.

The surprising thing to me was to meet people from so many different walks of life who try mountain climbing as a means of recreation. At home some of those people would be dirt under certain others' feet, but on the trails next to nature - well, everybody is your friend. It was the hardest work I did all vacation, yet it was the most restful.

That little thought I had in mind is told very nicely - much better than I could do it - in a verse quoted to me by a friend. I think that it gives the real outlook on life. Who wrote it originally I do not know, but it's well worth remembering:

A little health,
A little wealth,
A little house and freedom;
A few kind friends
For certain ends,
And little cause to need 'em.

N. E. Womens Clubs At Swampscott Soon

The New England conference of the State Federations of Womens clubs will gather at the New Ocean House in Swampscott, Sept. 23 to 25 inclusive. Mrs. Harry W. Smith, president of the New Hampshire Federation is the president of the conference and it is expected that representatives from all the womens clubs will be present. Discussions will be by well known speakers and present day conditions will be considered. Indications point to a very successful meeting.

With The Boy Scouts

The local boy scout troop, No. 9 gathered last Monday evening at the North church vestry, with Scoutmaster Walter Harding in charge. Patrol meetings were held under the direction of the patrol leaders, Clinton Holton and Carleton Finch. Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Harris conducted the business meeting. New Scouts attending were Donald Huber and Russell Bigelow. Edwin Finch passed his compass test.

Four members of the local Boy Scout troop participated in the scout activities at the Franklin County Fair this week. They are Warren and Eugene Hutchinson, John Rikert, and Norman Bolton. They did scout service on the grounds and camped out. The troop exhibited a set of model campfires of various types constructed by Carleton Finch.
